No. 787

YOUTH IN THE TOILS.

(The Macmillan Company)

[2-15-38] · Cloth xiv-167 pp. 5¼ x 7⅝" $1.50a

Synopsis: Here is an authoritative and thorough consideration of the delinquency problem in New York, and especially of the system now used in dealing with the delinquent boy. The authors have gone beyond the mere statement of facts; they make concrete and constructive recommendations as to what might be done to improve conditions. The inclusion of the actual stories of many delinquent boys—how they became delinquents and what happened to them—makes this a challenging presentation of the situation.

Authors: Mr. Harrison is a criminologist who has made outstanding researches in police and other social problems. Mr. Grant has devoted his life to work among boys.

Appeal: To social workers; to those making a study of criminology; to lawyers; to judges.

CONTENTS: Aims of Criminal Justice Administration; Grist for the Mill; Youth and Crime; Arrest and Arraignment; Detention; Reformatories and Prisons; Overhauling the Old Mills; Conclusion.
